Are international LLCs more protective than domestic LLCs?

The Nevis and Cook Island LLCs are both significantly more protective than domestic LLCs. As with the domestic LLC, a judgment creditor of an international LLC's member is limited to a charging order against that debtor member's profit distributions. Moreover, with the Nevis LLC, the creditor pays U.S. taxes on earnings attributable to the debtor-member from the Nevis LLC - even if earnings were not distributed by the Nevis LLC. This is the same with a domestic LLC. Moreover, the member's creditor cannot claim the member's interest in the LLC, nor replace its management. Most significantly, Nevis LLC law prevents a present creditor from pursuing fraudulent transfer claims against the debtor's assets transferred to the Nevis LLC provided the debtor exchanged the contributed assets for the proportionate ownership interest in the LLC.
