Asset Protection Tips

Asset Protection is the process of legally and ethically protecting assets from the threat of any future potential creditors. Each State has their own Asset Protection laws and nuances, however, the following is a list of Asset Planning Tips that anyone can utilize regardless of where they live.

1. PLAN EARLY: The best time to initiate an Asset Protection Plan is when there are no current and/or anticipated creditor threats. The reason for this is that any transfer made in anticipation of keeping said funds from a current/anticipated creditor is considered a Fraudulent Transfer (Fraud). When the Court finds out about an attempted Fraudulent Transfer, such individual may have to reverse the transfer and distribute the transferred assets directly to the creditor. To the same effect, Asset Protection planning should ideally occur when a claim has not yet materialized. If an individual plans too late, then they may subject all of their non-exempt assets to the claims of creditors.
